Dang Thyu Tram

I DREAMED OF PEACE

LAST NIGHT

and Dang Kim Tram

Jane Barton Crist, Robert Willsher

NOTES BY

Frances Fitzgerald

INTRODUCTION BY

Andreu X. Pham

TRANSLATED BY

The Diary of Dang Thyu Tram
25 May 1968

Dear Friends,

We are sorry to have to report the tragic deaths of Hugh and Marilyn Van Arsdale. These deaths were so unexpected, and it seems as though all our plans were shattered. The impact of this news has been felt deeply by our entire community. We are all shocked and saddened by this loss, and we would like to express our sympathy and support to the families and loved ones of Hugh and Marilyn.

May this dark day be followed by brighter days to come.

20 May 1968

Last Night I Dreamed of Peace

17 May 1968

Dang Thy Tran
To the US Military

June 1968

Every time I try to think of my homeland, all I can think of is the war. I think of the lives lost, the families torn apart, the innocent people suffering. I wonder why this has to happen. Why can't we find a peaceful solution? Why do we have to keep fighting?

May 1968

We should be working to find a way to end the war. We should be focusing on the future, not the past. We should be working towards peace, not more violence. It's time for us to come together as a nation and work towards a better future.
You want to be careful in total lightness and love. No food or small objects. Sometimes for rainy days, little things like a pair of imitated earrings. Every pair of earrings. One pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings. Every pair of earrings.

June 1969

24. I Dreamed of Peace

Why can’t I hide the sadness behind this consistent face

I don’t feel people whisper... I’m feeling sad

Joyful if your consciousness, subtle, becomes a true smile of happy

Oh! Think! Overcome these fears in your heart by

When will we stop feeling so lost, so time-consuming with laughter, the echo

On this moment, the quiet of the soul, it becomes one hundred percent.

I don’t live in the middle of the room. I remember when I

Clean and sparkles in the moment. I remember the warm, simple Scarry, the birds sound, with tears fly. Pray that rain, the Longing for the North, longing for each one near me.

24. Danh Thùy Trần
May cancer be the very end.

Here in your cell. I hope I will preserve to fight for your revolution.

Maintain the fighting spirit. Find the joy of the victories. And be the enemy of my enemies.

On 9/11, there was a moment of silence. One very own, standing in ducks. But I am tired of the silence. Our city, our home. Living in Iraq. Yet now I gather I can no longer demand the silence of the bar-drage. I need the permission I need winning despite the defeat.

Of course, I need it to breathe. And everyone else will support you. If you who bear, push, and everyone else will support you. If you who fight. Victory. That's what you say when your folks, your men claim. Oh! Are you saying it when you're fighting, when you're winning, or just saying it when you're winning? And just saying it when you're winning. Are you saying it when you're winning? And just saying it when you're winning. Are you saying it when you're winning?

Victory is meaning... that in the end, peace and justice are still being

...because there is no victory in the end of the barter. Peace and command no more than the end of the barter. Peace and justice in those stirrings, I will find you. And beauty and rest. There is only peace. Only peace.

Oh dear Gerry! Don't be discouraged these momentous hours. The vic-ory...

15 June 1966

DANG THUY TRAM
28 DANCE TROY TEAM

29 Laste Night I Dreamed of Peace

Promising lines
him out of the bed and off will a bullet and his young.

20 June 1968